Fix or Replace: Signs to Replace

Your Air Conditioner

In this infographic, you'll learn about the most common signs that tell you it's time to replace your air conditioner. If you spot one of these signs, call Florida Cooling Solutions to have the problem diagnosed and repaired.

AGE

If your air conditioning unit is 10 years or older, it should be replaced. Because of recent technological advancements, replacing your air conditioner can be highly advantageous.

HIGH ENERGY BILLS

If your energy bills are higher than normal, your air conditioning unit is likely malfunctioning and may need a replacement. Keep in mind that air conditioning replacement financing is available with a Cape Coral AC Installation provider.

POOR COOLING

When your rooms are too cold or too hot, a full unit replacement is likely needed. As one of the best AC contractors in the area, our Cape Coral AC installation services can install any air conditioner you buy when your previous unit malfunctions.

NOISES

Noises like grating, squealing, or grinding point towards severe problems with your AC unit.

LEAKS

When refrigerant leaks from an air conditioner, the substance can be hazardous to the surrounding environment.

MAINTENANCE ISSUES

If your AC unit requires frequent repairs, replacing the unit altogether will save you money in the long run. When you get in touch with our Cape Coral AC installation provider, we'll give you a quote with the air conditioning installation price.
